Good Taste in Painting the House.

Editor News:

In view of the fact from actual observation, that so many of the homes in Columbia need beautifying with paint, and this being the most practical time of the year in which to do painting, I advance some few thoughts with the aid of practical instruction, concerning exterior house decoration.

Good taste in painting a house is not shown unless the house is made to harmonize with its neighbors, and a man ought to take as much pride in the appearance of the community in which he lives, as in that of his own property, and in striving for something different from any one else, a house owner often commits an error, by merely making his home look common and unattractive.

This bit of advice is not put to the home maker by an experienced artist, but if you put two or three colors on that new house of yours, it will not look good. Don't run a band of red around the middle, and don't have a lot of ginger bread decorations picked out in a different color from the body of the house, in fact your house would have a much neater appearance if you had no ginger bread painting on it at all.

You can very easily make a house look larger or smaller, nearer the street or farther from it, by the color you paint it. In addition to white for the big house, there are three other fairly safe colors for the smaller building. They are gray, yellow and brown, the darker blends to be bordered with white. But white is the most excellent for all, if there are trees and shrubs on the lawn. On treeless, level ground yellow has the most pleasing effect, because less glaring in the sunlight. A good yellow looks well on a large colonial house, or a simple country cottage. Many small houses look better in lead or gray than any other color. White always suggests the simple or formal, but is not suited for bungalows, or houses with many gables or projections. Shades of red and brown look well on such houses, especially if they are shingled all over, and the shingles stained. Green is often used on shingled bungalows, but the effect does not justify its use, especially in the country where the green paint enters into unequal competition with the green of grass and trees. Color on the roof is often highly effective, such as red, garnet, gray or brown, more especially on a tin roof, and green stained shingles look their best on white or brown houses. What has been said above applies principally to frame houses. Another very important point to remember in planning to paint a frame house, is the fact that different woods should have different blends of paint ingredients, and different methods of applying the first coat, or filler. Many painters get in such a hurry that they do not consider these important variations in the value to the owner. They just slap on the paint any way, just to paint. The owner of a house, however has a tremendous interest in the durability of the job, as painting costs money, and it is perfectly natural that they should want the best paint and the best service if they are to get a maximum value for their outlay.

We have not heard anything of recent date about the building of the pike from here to Jamestown via Russell Springs. If the project could be put through it would be an enterprise that would be of incalculable benefit to both Russell and Adair counties. It will require some money to build this pike, but if a few hustling men would take hold of it, in a very short time they could give an idea of the amount that could be raised. Another thing to take into consideration, the amount of work that would be donated in the way of hauling, etc.

The Lindsey-Wilson now has nearly a hundred pupils enrolled, and new students arrive every day. Prof. Moss informed us, a few days ago, that the indications pointed to the largest school the institution has ever had. There is room for all who will come, and teachers sufficient in every department. The societies give an open session at an early date.

Mr. L. M. Henderson, of Greensburg, was examined last week before Judge Carter touching his qualification to practice law. Judge H. C. Baker and Mr. Rollin Hurt were the examiners, who reported favorably and license issued.

J. A. Wise, Deputy United States Marshal, arrested Jas. G. Robinson in Russell county last week, charged with selling liquor unlawfully. He was brought to Columbia and given an examining trial before Commissioner F. R. Winfrey, and held over.

Program.

Program for Teachers Association to be held at Big creek Saturday Oct. 5, 1912. Division No. 2.

Devotional exercise conducted by Bro. Joel Moore.

Welcome address by Willie Sneed.

1 Purpose of, and benefits derived from, the teacher's Association—Miss Estelle Willis, Miss Allie Gibson.

2 What should be the relation between parent and teacher, tell of the responsibility of each—George Aaron, F. A. Strange.

3 Home and school government and ends sought—Miss Ethel Moore, F. E. Webb.

4 Kinds of punishment, proper, improper, the end to be gained through punishment, the child's idea of punishment—Alvin Rosson, Miss Carrie Vaughn.

5 What can the parents do for the cause of education and what are they doing—Clarence Strange, Miss Allie Garnett.

6 Explain the purpose of the recitation and describe an ideal recitation—L. Gabbert, Miss Nannie Rowe.

7 How manage pupils on their road to and from school—Darel Strange, Miss Mattie Young.

8 Relative value of oral and written work—Miss Nannie Russell, Miss Sherley.

9 Supplementary reading in school, how best managed—L. C. Bell, Ezra Hadley.

10 Which of the common school branches do you consider the most important, give reason and tell your method of teaching same—Annlyza Montgomery, Miss Albertie Bardin.

11 What can we as a class of teachers do to get education on a higher basis, and are we doing it—To be discussed by all the teachers present.

12 The true ends of education—Pearl Hindman.

For Sale at Auction.

If not sold privately before I will on Saturday, Oct. 12, 1912, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. offer my home at Loretto, Ky. to the highest and best bidder. The property contains about 6 acres. The house has 8 good-size rooms, halls, bath and colonial porch on two sides, and all modern conveniences. Good garden, barn crib, 2 cisterns, all necessary outbuildings in good repair. Beautiful locust grove surrounding the house. Possession given in 30 days. Same will be sold one-half (1-2) cash, balance in one and two years, with interest from date of sale. Parties desiring to examine the property will call on the undersigned.

Emily J. Cummins,
Loretto, Ky.

The Men Who Succeed

as heads of large enterprises are men of great energy. Success, to-day, demands health. To ail is to fail. It's utter folly for a man to endure a weak, run-down, half alive condition when Electric Bitters will put him right on his feet in short order. "Four bottles did me more real good than any other medicine I ever took," writes Chas. B. Allen, Sylvania, Ga. "After years of suffering with Rheumatism, liver trouble, stomach disorders and deranged kidneys, I am again, thanks to Electric Bitters, sound and well." Try them. Only 50 cents at Paul Drug Co.

Indicted for Murder.

It will be remembered that some time last month it was reported that Rev. J. E. Dyer had suddenly died at Campbellsville, a victim of apoplexy. From a dispatch from Campbellsville to the Louisville Herald, it seems that foul play was suspected, and last week the grand jury of Taylor county indicted West Cobb, charging him with the wilful murder of Dyer.

Rev. Dyer was an Odd-Fellow, and if we are correctly informed, belonged to the Russell Springs Lodge. If this last statement correct the Lodge will doubtless take a hand in the prosecution of Cobb.

Hugh Ross of Creelsboro easily defeated Honey Melody, champion of world, on the night of the 16th, at Owego, N. Y. The bell saved Melody from a severe knock out in last round. Melody's face was terribly battered. Ross came out of the bout without a mark.

Harrison Brown, who shot and killed Lewis Western, at Lula, Russell county, was given an examining trial at Jamestown Monday of last week, was held without bail.

The Graded School now has over two hundred pupils, and we learn from Prof. Turner, the principal, that everything is working harmoniously.

Quiet Wedding in Taylor County.

On Thursday Sept. 19, 1912, at the home of the bride's father, Mr. J. W. Johnson, Miss Rhoda Gertrude, their oldest daughter, was happily married to Mr. Herbert Furkin, at 7:30 p. m. in the presence of a few friends and relatives by Rev. J. A. Johnson in his most solemn, and impressive manner. They marched to the parlor by the soft strains of music of Loves Old Sweet Song rendered by Mrs. R. N. Chewning.

The bride was handsomely dressed in white satin and was very beautiful. Miss Rosa Chewning bridesmaid, was dressed in white and formed a charming personality, while the groom and best man, Mr. John Smith were attired to suit the occasion.

Miss Johnson was a charming young lady, and having a wide circle of friends, was quite popular among the young people of this community, and will be greatly missed.

The groom is a young man of sterling character, and a prosperous grocerman of Cane Valley.

Immediately after the ceremony, accompanied by Miss Chewning and Mr. Smith, couple left for Cane Valley the home of the groom's parents, where elegant repast was served, and to receive parental blessings.

May their lives be long and happily spent together, is the wish of the writer.

For Sale

I will sell The Adair County News at a reasonable price and on inviting terms of payments. It is one of the best equipped country plants in the State and is doing about $7,000.00 business annually. This is a great opportunity for any enterprising young man. Outside business complications and bad health reason for selling. Write or call if you mean business.

C. S. Harris.

Sale of Personal Property.

I will, on Tuesday, October 8, 1912, sell to the highest bidder, at My residence in Gradyville, the following property: Household and kitchen furniture, farming implements, a lot of horses, mules and cattle. Sale to begin at 10 o'clock a. m. Terms will be made known on day of sale.

J. D. Walker.

There will be a pie supper at New Liberty school house on Friday night, Sept. 27th. Also a joint debate between the Crocus and Inroad debating societies. Question, Resolved, "That there should be suffrage for women in all of the states of the American Union."

The implicit confidence that many people have in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is founded on their experience in the use of that remedy and their knowledge of the many remarkable cures of colic, diarrhoea and dysentery that it has effected. For sale by Paul Drug Co.

Mr. A. D. Patteson, sheriff of Adair county, will convey the following persons to the penitentiary as soon as the business of the present term of circuit court closes. Jas. L. Fisher, of color, who will serve from one to five years for malicious shooting. Chester Watson, white, who was given the same term for forgery. He confessed. The jury in the case of the State against Robert McWhorter, of color, charged with house burning, failed to agree.

Rev. J. R. Crawford will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday evening at 7:30. His theme will be "The Criminality of the Liquor Traffic." The community is invited to this service.

Lillard & Fox, Danville, and A. S. Walters, Lexington, were in Columbia Thursday, on their return from Cumberland county where they bought 300 head of cattle at from 42 cents to 54 cents.

Judge Carter was busy last week until late in the afternoon Thursday, trying misdemeanor cases. A great many came off the docket.

I handle the best of fertilizer and sell cheap for cash.

S. McKinley.

Quite a number of cattle and hogs were driven through Columbia last week, enroute to the Louisville market.

Crop Report.

Commissioner of Agriculture J. W. Newman sends out the following report from Frankfort:

The report on corn at September first shows an improvement, and indicates a yield of 92.8 per cent as against 84.5 per cent for the month of August, an increase of 8.3 per cent. Dark tobacco shows a condition of 31.6 per cent, and Burley is even better, showing a condition of 87.5 per cent. Out of a total crop yield in Kentucky of a money value of $110,000,000, the corn and tobacco crops represent $88,000,000. The conditions reported indicate splendid yields of the largest money-valued crops of the State.

The second crop of potatoes shows an acreage of 90.6 per cent, with a condition 97.7 per cent. An acreage of cow peas of 91.7 per cent, shows that Kentucky is beginning to appreciate the value of these two legumes in his crop rotation.

The pasture conditions continue splendid, a condition of 99.6 per cent is reported, as does the condition of gardens, which is 95.7 per cent.

Taken as a whole, indications are for a better crop for 1912 than has been shown at any time during the crop year.

New Enterprise.

The Adair County Spoke Company will begin business in Columbia in the next few days. Mr. Eugene Wethington, who is the manager of the company, was here last Wednesday and purchased a lot from Mrs. Geo. W. Staples, situated on Russell Heights beyond the bridge. In talking to Mr. Wethington, he said: "We are here to do business to help your town and county. If the farmers will bring in their hickory and oak timber we will pay out from $70,000 to $100,000 here annually. We want all the timber that can be placed on the yard. Advertisements for the character of timber and dimensions, will be scattered over the county."

Resolutions--Ladies Aid Society.

Whereas, the supreme Ruler of the universe hath deemed it wise to transfer the membership of another of our number Mrs. Walker Bryant, from our earthly society, to that heavenly band of workers who have preceded her to that home above, where the only law is love and the only duty of its members is to sing praises to God, therefore, be it

Resolved, that we as a society deeply feel the loss of one so faithful, as long as her health permitted.

2d That we extend to the bereaved family our sympathy in this sad dispensation of providence and point them to Him who alone can bind up their bleeding hearts.

3d That a copy of these resolutions be spread on our record book, a copy sent to the family and a copy sent to the Adair County News for publication.

Mrs. Bettie Butler
Mrs. J. P. Hutchison
Mrs. Mary Biggs / Committee.

Mr. J. T. Barbee Jr., and wife have removed from this place to Louisville. Mr. Barbee is a painter and paper-hanger by trade, and he was assured of steady employment before leaving Columbia. He has a good mechanic and his friends there hope how well he may do. Mr. J. T. Barbee, Sr., accompanied his son to Louisville, and will also reside in the city.

For Sale.

One 8-horse International Gasoline Engine. One Richmond City Corn Mill, 14 inch burr. These machines good as new. Will exchange the 8-horse engine for a smaller one.

Darnell Bros.
Gadberry, Ky.

R. K. Young, J. H. Goff and A. Hunn, sold to Fox & Lillard of Danville, last week, 270 steers, weighing from eight to eleven hundred pounds at 44 to 46 per pound. Mr. Young still has 270 good ones now which will go on the market this week.

Large congregations greeted Rev. Crawford last Sunday. In the forenoon he preached at the Baptist church, in the evening at the Christian church.

W. T. Hendrickson & Son, of Irene, Taylor county, bought 3 mule colts in Columbia last week. They paid $70 per head for two, and $72.50 for the other one.

Reed & Miller have removed to their old building in South corner of the square.

Casey Loses a Good Citizen.

Last Friday morning Mr. James Rubarts, who resided near Dunnville, and who was one of the best citizens of Casey county, succumbed to the ravages of typhoid fever, and in the presence of his devoted wife and a number of friends crossed to the other side.

He was about thirty-five years old, a zealous member of the Christian church and superintendent of the Sunday school.

He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. R. F. Rowe, this place. Three weeks ago he attended the funeral of his father-in-law, Mr. J. R. Wade, and was a perfect picture of health.

The deceased was a fine business man and will be greatly missed. For a number of years he sold goods at Dunnville.

Mrs. Rowe and her niece, Miss Sallie E. Murphey, who is in school here, attended the funeral.

Nol so Bad.

The following dispatch appeared in last Friday's Louisville Times, sent from Gradyville, this county:

Mose Wooten, a well-known farmer of this county, was seriously, if not fatally, scalded. He was working with an old steam engine when the plug blew out, letting the steam strike him full in the face, burning him in a horrible manner. For a time it was thought his eyesight was destroyed, but physicians are working hard to save him from being blind. Mose was in town every day last week looking as well and hearty as he ever did.

Fined Three Hundred and Fifty Dollars.

Mr. T. I. Smith, charged with shooting Vester Murrell and his son, at Cane Valley, some time ago, was given a trial Thursday and Friday. The jury got the case about 3 o'clock in the afternoon Friday, and after deliberating two hours returned a verdict for $350. The evidence was all circumstantial, no witness swearing that Smith fired the shot. Murrell and his son were in their room, and it was after night when the gun was fired. Circumstances pointed to Smith, who was intoxicated, but there was no direct proof that he was the guilty party.

At the time that the shooting occurred, Murrell and his son and Smith were on the most intimate terms, as the proof showed.

Millinery Opening.

On Saturday, October, the 5th, we cordially invite the ladies of Columbia and vicinity to visit our immense display of millinery. Our stock is complete with the most fashionable goods. Remember the day, Oct., the 5th.

Atkins & Price.

Columbia Chapter, R. A. M., No. 7, will meet next Friday night. It will be the annual election of officers and there will be other important business. All Companions in regular standing are fraternally invited to be present.

J. D. Lowe, H. P.

Notice.

Educational meeting at Breeding church Friday night, Oct. 11, 1912. T. J. Coats will deliver and address. Every body should attend.

There will be an open session of the Epworth League at the Methodist church next Sunday night. There will be special music and several short addresses. Come, everybody.

The Master of Columbia Lodge, No. 96, F. and A. M., is very much gratified over the attendance, last Friday night. The third degree was conferred in due and ancient form.

Miss Julia Eubank will return to-day from Louisville and Cincinnati, where she has been several weeks selecting millinery for Atkins & Price.

There will be a game of ball, Picketts chapel, vs Ozark at L. W. T. S. Campus Saturday afternoon Sept. 28, 1912.

W. L. Wiker sold to J. C. Durham & Bro., of Campbellsville, 3 Aberdeen steers at 6 cents per pound.

R. E. Young bought 200 sheep from J. E. Lewis of Cumberland Co., for $600.

Eld. Z. T. Williams commenced a series of meetings at Dunnville Monday night.

An Accident.

Mrs. Tobias Huffaker met with a painful accident last Friday afternoon. She was in Columbia and left town for the Cyclone school-house, three miles out on the pike, where her daughter, Miss Willard, teaches. She was driving a horse not use to automobiles, and the one due here at 3 p. m., came meeting her, but before the machine got in sixty yards of her, the animal became scared, made a quick whirl, upsetting the buggy. Mrs. Huffaker received a cut on the head, and aside from being terribly frightened, the damage will give her but little trouble.

The accident occurred between the toll-gate and the school-house, and we are glad that it was not of a serious nature.

Rally Day, Casey County Schools.

Friday, September the 20, was observed as Rally Day by the Casey county schools.

Profs. H. H. Cherry and R. P. Green, of Bowling Green, and Supt., T. J. Coats, of Frankfort, delivered excellent addresses to thirty-five hundred persons on the Fair grounds at Liberty. Twenty-two hundred school children participated in the grand march.

Never before have the people of Casey county manifested such interest in education as they have this year. Our superintendent, J. C. Lay, is putting forth every effort to make this a banner year for the schools of our county, and best of all, he has the hearty cooperation of all his teachers.

Leslie Jerer.

Valuable Land For Sale.

I have 165 acres of good land, in three tracts which I will sell private ly at a bargain. Two tracts are in Green county, near the Adair line, one in Adair near the Green county line. Good dwelling on one tract, and I am using all three tracts as one farm. Will sell any one, or all three of the tracts.

Dr. J. J. Booker,
Miami, Ky.

Our hats will be open for the inspection of the public after tomorrow. Every one invited who is interested in the selection of a neat hat.

Atkins & Price.

Few, if any, medicines, have met with the uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The remarkable cures of colic and diarrhoea which it has effected in almost every neighborhood have given it a wide reputation. For sale by Paul Drug Co.

New Livery and Feed Stable.

W. H. Goff has withdrawn from the firm, Goff Bros., and has opened a first-class livery and feed stable in the barn known as the Coffey Bros., barn. He has all kinds of vehicles, fresh going horses and safe drivers. Feed in abundance. When in Columbia, ask for his stable.

Running up and downstairs, sweeping and bending over making beds will not make a woman healthy or beautiful. She must get out of doors, walk a mile or two every day and take Chamberlain's Tablets to improve her digestion and regulate her bowels. For sale by Paul Drug Co.

Closing out my entire stock of General Merchandise at reduced prices for cash. Call and buy and save money.

46-2t
Henry Ingram.

J. H. Nance, who is known to quite a number of Adair county people, was indicted in the Taylor circuit court last week, charged with burning his store-house, for perjury and for selling liquor in prohibition territory.

Mr. C. R. Royle, one of our best farmers, left some specimens of the sugar loaf apple in this office last Saturday. They were perfect in form, size and beauty and tipped the scales at 8 ounces each.

Richardson & Walker, proprietors of the Migt Mill, have just installed a wheat cleaning machine, one of the best that is made. They clean before grinding and will also clean for farmers, their seed wheat.

Atkins & Price will have one of the nicest lines of fall and winter millinery ever in Columbia.

St. Kilda's Inhabitants.

Islanders of St. Kilda, in the Atlantic, off the coast of Scotland, were saved from privation last spring by the arrival of the British cruiser with stores. They were more fortunate than the colony of fisher folk on the arctic island of Nova Zembla in 1911. For ten months it has been impossible to open up communications with the island, and when at last a steamer arrived with provisions every one of the inhabitants was dead of starvation. The last man to die had left a penciled message telling how the wool from the clothing had been eaten, and that two men who ate of the flesh of their dead companions died. All the children were dead and only two women and three men beside himself left alive. A tragic postscript added: "I Chenoff, am the only person living. My hands shake, my eyes are growing dim, and I feel the end is near." And after that the impenetrable veil.

Fashion a Shy Bird.

Fashion is a shy bird, and an observant critic has noticed that tailors are not advising the frock coat and fancy waistcoat, which are becoming unpopular because Mr. Seddon was so dressed in the dock. The passing of the frock coat will be welcomed by many, and by many who do not remember the execution of Mrs. Manning in 1849, who swung in black satin, and made that material unfashionable for many years. There is an opening for reformers who wish to change the fashions and are willing to go to the stake for their belief. One can foresee a woman who will commit a murder in order to be hanged in a hobble skirt, so that there shall be no more hobble skirts in the fashionable world. And the enthusiastic vegetarian might kill some other donkey and die in leather boots, with the idea of bringing vegetable boots into fashion. There are many possibilities for the reformers who will consent to wear the wrong clothes on the right occasion.—London Chronicle.

On Second Thought.

The majority of men are honest enough in other respects, but they all pretend they like music. Tip to book agents: If you desire to effect a sale do not tell your prospective buyer that the book has been expurgated.

When there is no need to do a thing there are always plenty of men ready and willing to do it.

It is announced that the Japanese will try goat's milk. Eph Wiley says if they do goat's milk will be convicted.

The mule is believed to be the only deadly weapon the projectile of which is discharged from the breech.

If the woman really loves her husband she will give the agent an order to have a crayon portrait made from his photograph. If she doesn't love him she will have her own photograph enlarged.

"If you have time," said an agent to Dodd Gaston yesterday, "there is a little matter I desire to bring to your attention." "I know it," Dodd replied; "I have known it for several days. You want to sell me something. No man calls on a stranger three times a week unless he has a plan to beat the stranger out of some money."

Casey Man Killed by a Bee Sting.

A dispatch from Liberty last week said that Robert W. Russell, of the Ellisburg section, was killed by the sting of a bee. Mr. Russell had worked hard all day in his tobacco field. Just after sunset he went to his mother's home nearby, to take some honey. During the process a bee stung him on the tip end of the long finger of his left hand. He thought nothing of the sting but went back home and sat down on the porch with his wife. In a few minutes he remarked to his wife that he was feeling awfully sick. In a moment she noticed that he was falling out of his chair. She held him until assistance could come, when they telephoned for a doctor. He was dead in 20 minutes from the time he remarked that he was feeling sick.—Stanfort Journal.

Best Man Being Called.

The fact that Oscar Straus, of New York, was nominated for Governor by the Progressives by acclamation and without being a candidate for office goes to show that political parties are now seeking their best men to put them forward for office. No other kind deserve to win and the time has now arrived when no other kind can win. It is universally admitted that the Progressive party in New York has been very much strengthened by the nomination of Mr. Straus and that is because he is one of the best and cleanest men in the State. It is this fact which called out a tribute for him from Woodrow Wilson. His nomination has forced both the Democratic and Republican parties to look around for their very best men to nominate against him. They both know that they will lose votes if they nominate for Governor men below the standard of Oscar Straus. It is a happy augury of better politics when the best men command the largest support and the time is rapidly coming when no party can win with a bad man.—Etown News.

U. S. Plans Good.

The Federal Government will soon undertake, with the co-operation of local authorities, a unique experiment in road building in Kentucky. This experimental work is made possible by provision in the Post-office Appropriation Bill which passed Congress at the close of the recent session setting aside $500,000 to be expended by the Secretary of Agriculture, in co-operation with the Post-master General, "in improving the condition of roads to be selected by them over which rural delivery, is, or may hereafter be, established."

Acting with the approval of Secretary Wilson and Postmaster General Hitchcock, Logan W. Page, director of the Office of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture, already has begun to map out a plan for distributing the appropriation, which will embody the policy that eventually will control all disbursements.

In the first place the Office of Public Roads will cost $8,000 to each State in the Union, reserving about $2,000 for future maintenance in each State. It is believed that $8,000 will enable each State to put in a first class condition perhaps two post roads, or to improve one rural delivery road properly. The routes to be experimented with will be selected by the local authorities.

A letter will be sent to Gov. McCreary informing him that a certain sum, probably $7,000 immediately available for the improvements of post roads in Kentucky, under this new legislation, and it is expected that the Governor, after consultation with the highway authorities, will select the routes to be treated and notify the director of the Office of Public Roads in Washington what has been done.

This plan has been devised because it is believed that it will avoid involving the Government in the politics of making selections and will relieve Senators and Representatives from much pulling and hauling.

Wilson Replies to Beveridge.

Chicago, Sept. 16—Through Ohio and Indiana Gov. Wilson did some impromptu campaigning today that was as vigorous as it was unexpected.

He replied to former Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, who charged in a recent speech that Gov. Wilson, if elected, would be boss controlled.

"I understand that in a speech made last Saturday night," said Gov. Wilson, "a very much esteemed friend of mine, namely, Senator Beveridge, said that he entertained a very serious fear about me, namely, that if I were elected President I would be controlled by the bosses. I never suspected before that Senator Beveridge was a humorist; because if he did not know that was a joke he ought to have known it. When did he ever hear that I had changed all my political habits?"

"The way you can tell whether a man is going to be controlled by the bosses or not is to judge whether he is in reach of a boss or not. Do you know what a boss is? A boss is a political agent of certain special interests, interests, who see to it, through him that people that can control are put in office and that laws they don't want are kept off the statute books: and the men who do that are men who are interested in the great monopolies of this country.

"I am sorry to observe that whereas the Republican party has practically fostered the trusts and the Democratic party proposes to prevent monopoly in this country, the third party, represented by Senator Beveridge, proposes to take the monopoly into partnership with the Government by accepting it as an inevitable necessity and bringing it under the regulation of law; that is to say, making it a legalized institution of the country. And when the men who have created monopoly are accepted partners of the Government, do you suppose they are going to dispense with the men who are their necessary agents, namely, the bosses, who determine who are to occupy office and what the legislation is to be?"

Increased School Attendance.

The most encouraging sign of progress in Kentucky is the wonderful increase of school attendance this year State Supt. Hamlett informs us that the increase is not less than twenty-five per cent. This increase he says is greater than the combined increase of the last ten years. Mr. Hamlett says that this large increase of attendance is due to the act of the last Legislature making the pay of the common school teachers depend somewhat upon the attendance at school. As is very well known in Kentucky among the school people the News has been advocating this for a number of years but could not get the Legislature to pass it until Supt Hamlett was elected. We believe that under this provision of the law and the new census measure, which the editor of The News drafted, that in ten years there will be fewer illiterate white children in Kentucky than any state in the South. Nothing indicates progress more in a State than stamping out illiteracy and giving a good education to the children.—E. Town News.

Roosevelt Overlooks Himself.

Mr. Roosevelt declares that Barnes, Penrose and Guggenheim work hand in hand with the big interests. This is all true. How about Mr. Roosevelt himself.

It was not at the solicitation of Barnes and Penrose and Guggenheim that Edward H. Harriman raised a political corruption fund of $250,000. It was at the solicitation of Theodore Roosevelt.

It was not Barnes and Penrose and Guggenheim who, according to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, bucked the pure food law. That was done by Theodore Roosevelt.

It was not Barnes and Penrose and Guggenheim who failed to bring the machinery of the law into play to send George W. Perkins to the penitentiary for violating the Sherman law in organizing the illegal harvester trust, and who then accepted Perkins' millions to run for a third term for president. That was Theodore Roosevelt.—Glasgow Times.

Vote Selling.

A vote selling probe has been going on in Letcher county with the result that about fifty-five citizens who are said to have been voting for a consideration have been indicted by the grand jury, and will subsequently have to explain their actions before the circuit court. The investigation is to be continued, and it is expected that others will be caught in the dragnet. Vote sellers ought to be punished and incidentally, a lot of them are being punished in different parts of the country, but has anybody heard of the vote buyers being indicted? A man can't sell his vote unless somebody buys it and the man who corrupts the electorate is worse than the pitiful individual who votes for cash in hand.—State Journal.

Absence of Business Fright.

It is an obvious and gratifying fact that the country is not the least disturbed over the probable outcome of the Presidential election. Do what they may in predicting dire results, the calamity howlers cannot create even a ripple of excitement over what may ensue in the event of Democratic triumph. In the past the alarm has been heeded when it looked as though the Democrats were going to win, and the fear of a change has turned victory into defeat, but now we hear no dreadful predictions about a Democratic administration ruining the country. Though the Republican party is all but out of commission, and the triumph of the Democrats seems inevitable, there prevails a spirit of contentment and satisfaction in business and financial circles indicating there is no fear of the result. All the parties and candidates agree that the tariff must be revised downward, and though this is certain to be done, manufacturers are flourishing, and all who want to work can get a job. In the face of the fact that one of the presidential candidates is looked on by his ardent supporters as the only man in America who can save the country and preserve the people's rights, and the odds against his election are very great the business of the country grows in volume and activity. It continues to grow as the chances for Wilson's election grow.—Elizabethtown News.

The Crime of 1912.

Senator Lorimer has exposed a conspiracy—the crime of 1912. In his speech in the Senate he dramatically exclaimed: "Was ever mortal man more completely surrounded by conspiracy and intrigue? The President of the United States, William Taft; Theodore Roosevelt, the ex-president; a former Democratic candidate for the presidency, William Jennings Bryan; and the trust press of the country were in it, all joined in the conspiracy to poison the minds of the citizenship in order that one man might be destroyed to satisfy the malice of the most corrupt set of newspaper owners known to the history of the country."

He is too modest; he has named only a few of the nearly ninety million American citizens who were in the conspiracy to rid the senate of his presence. What profound logic—that he ought to be acquitted because everybody is against him.—Ex

The Plug.

Don't make fun of the plug. He may be slow and awkward and never get to the stable until dark, but he is the fellow who in the end will bring home the coin, says Bert Walker. The plug horse that pulls all day in the field puts more money in the bank for the honest farmer than the race horse that goes out and turns a half in 0.48 flat and then loafs for two weeks waiting for another race to be matched. The old plug goes out in the sunshine and storm and pulls in a few dollars each week, but the race horse waits for the day when the track is good and then generally loses more than he wins. The steady old plug keeps the wolf from the door, while the race horse causes mortgage to be foreclosed. Just so with the man. Pin your faith to the plug who keeps eternally at it, the fellow who gets up every morning and does so much, and is ready to do it again next day. He lays up more shining dollars in the bank than the swift sport who lies around all summer waiting for luck to come along and turn a stream of silver into his pocket. One cackling Plymouth Rock hen is worth a dozen screaming eagles when it comes to paying off the mortgage. The plug is the fellow who steadies the ship and acts as ballast when the boat begins to rock. The plug is the fellow who leaves his family in comfortable circumstances."

Painting Pictures Under the Sea.

An artist has lately found a way of painting under the sea. He goes down in a diver's suit, to which air is supplied through a tube and other apparatus and there with heavy oiled paper and paints he makes quick sketches of what he sees. He has painted a picture of fishes that have fins so large that they are like the wings of butterflies and make the queer creatures appear to be flying through the strange green gloom of the water. Sometimes it seems as if many of the fairy stories are actually coming true in every day life. When the Frenchman, Jules Verne, wrote his fanciful story called "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," no one supposed that any thing like that could ever really come to pass, and yet the divers and submarine boats nowadays have made such a voyage almost an ordinary occurrence, though perhaps, no boat has yet descended quite so deep as Verne fancied or has traveled quite so far.

Advertising as a Guarantee.

When a business concern invests a large sum of money in a handsome store and equipment for retail merchandising, the public feels a certain degree of confidence that the concern has goods worth examining. People argue that unless they had established a reputation for fair dealing and unless they had goods that they knew filled a need, they would not dare spend so much money.

Advertising likewise, acts as a guarantee of substantial business character. When a firm spends money freely on this necessary form of salesmanship the public concludes that it must have good back of it that have demonstrated their worth, or the firm would not have set apart this sum of money for selling them through the newspapers.

A concern that does not advertise impresses the public as meriment. The fact that it may have been in existence for many years does not help it so very much. The public may even look at mere existence for a long term of years as a disqualification, indicating preference for old time methods. It takes advertising to prove that you have confidence in your goods.

Uncertainty of the immediate future is looked upon by many men of affairs, as a blockade to enterprise and business prosperity, and this blockade is now quite apparent throughout the channels of trade.

The Presidential Election; the efforts of Congress with no fixed purpose; Organized Labor as a new factor in politics; together with other matters of greater or less import, represent at this time a chaotic conflict of separate interests, to harmonize which is now the problem before the country.

ROLLA WELLS IS EARLY ON THE JOB

Democratic National Treasurer Is After Small Contributor.

THE PEOPLE TO HELP.

There is to Be No "Tainted Money" Used in Electing Wilson and Marshall.

New York.—A small, smooth shaved, middle aged man with a coat of tan that gave evidence of much outdoor life recently came into the Waldorf carrying a suit case early in the afternoon and registered as "Rolla Wells, St. Louis, Mo."

The smooth shaved little man, who is to be the watchdog of the Wilson campaign money from now on, was asked for vital statistics, whereupon it was learned at first hand that he is a banker and ex-mayor of St. Louis, is fifty-six years old, was graduated at Princeton in 1876, or three years before Governor Wilson was graduated; that he has two sons who are Princeton men and a grandson who some day will be a Princeton man; that he had no notion of seeing New York this summer until the Wilson organization selected him as its treasurer and that just at present the one thing that sticks out in the appointment in his mind is that the new job cut in seriously upon a most beautiful vacation which he and Mrs. Wells had been enjoying in a camp at Little Traverse Bay, Michigan.

Mr. Wells believes in getting at his desk at 8 o'clock in the morning. "We are going to raise our campaign fund through the small contributions," said Mr. Wells.

"I am sure that a large part of the money will be raised by popular subscription."

"The people have confidence in Woodrow Wilson, and they will give what they can of their means to elect such a man president."

"I am a great believer in publishing broadcast, before and after election, the various contributions made."

"There are men who can well afford to give the committee $5,000, but I want to assure the public that we are not going to have any tainted money."

"We are appealing to the people, and we are relying on them to help elect Wilson and Marshall."

"I have two boys who have been graduated from Princeton, one five years ago and one seven. But it is not because ours is a Princeton family that I like Governor Wilson. He is a great big man and the type that we should have in public life."

Woodrow Wilson says this is not a time to be afraid to "speak out in meeting." That he was not afraid is demonstrated by his logical speech in accepting the Democratic nomination.

Roosevelt was willing to crawl from the White House to the capitol in 1908 if he could help his friend Root. Today he would like nothing better than meeting Root up a dark alley.

The Democrats are depending on the small contributor to help elect Wilson and Marshall. The appeal is being made to the people, and the people are responding.

Wilson will make the most accessible president who has ever occupied the White House. He is typically a Democratic man.

Farmers have awakened to the folly of the so called blessings of a protective tariff.

her domestic duties alone. She wants to do her share in problems of the political and business world. Mrs. Marshall is said to have discussed in detail with her husband his action on the Baltimore convention, and when it was seen that Marshall was the man who was going to go on the ticket with Wilson he wanted to know what his wife thought about it.

"It won't be any harder than being Governor of Indiana, and if the party thinks you are the man it only agrees with my opinion," she said, and that settled the matter with Governor Marshall.

Mrs. Marshall had the honor of being the first woman in Indiana to hold an office. She was appointed county clerk of Steuben county by her father and held that office for a number of years.

When Governor Marshall and his wife were about to be married she decided that her last official act of the office would be to make out the marriage license. Governor Marshall accompanied his wife to the county clerk's office and watched her with care as she noted the records in the big book and filled out the license and watched her as she carefully signed her father's name, with her own as deputy.

Mrs. Marshall, having blotted the ink, said, "Now we can go."

"Not yet," laughed Governor Marshall.

"Why, we are all fixed," explained Mrs. Marshall, pointing to the license. "Yes, but I have to pay for it," replied the governor. "It's all right for you to make it out, but it's up to me to pay the fee," and he did.

Mrs. Marshall is a keen student, and having established the practice of going with her husband on all his trips, he they short or long, they make it a point to carry along some book.

Mrs. Marshall is as much of a humanitarian as the governor. A glance at some of the bills that have been passed by the 1911 Indiana legislature gives an insight into the governor:

To curtail child labor.

To regulate sale of cold storage products.

To require hygienic schoolhouses and medical examination of children.

To prevent blindness at birth.

To regulate sale of cocaine and other drugs.

To provide free treatment for hydrophobia.

To establish public playgrounds.

To improve pure food laws.

To protect against loan sharks.

To provide police court matrons.

To prevent traffic in white slaves.

To permit night schools.

To require medical supplies as part of a train equipment.

Governor Marshall has also played an active part in providing for protection of labor, as is exemplified by the following acts:

To create a bureau of inspection for workshops, factories, mines and boilers.

To establish free employment agencies.

To require full train crews.

To require safety devices on switch engines.

To require efficient headlights on engines.

To require standard cabooses.

To provide weekly wage, etc.

And Governor Marshall has consulted with his "partner" on all these bills. He is quoted as saying a man can't go far wrong in taking the advice of a wife—if she is his partner as well as his wife.

Having exhausted his supply of adjectives in denouncing Taft, Roosevelt is now leading a campaign of denunciation of every one who does not agree with himself.

Farmers have pulled against the short end of the yoke long enough. Wilson and Marshall promise to see that the pulling is made more nearly even.

Wonder how the colonel likes being an outcast?

She decided that he had better give up some of the handshaking and take care of his health first. So when you find him making a speech he does not stay around to hear the applause of the audience. Rather, he hurries to his room and changes his clothing.

"Some people have said that Tom Marshall is not a handshaking politician. He is not. His wife thinks it is more important to guard his health than to carry out the old time policy, and she is correct, as she is in most all other things."

"Home Air" Prevails.

The Marshall home is typical of the mistress. It is a home of books, and still one does not feel "bookish." One of the Marshall friends said he always felt like eating when he entered the Marshall home in Columbia City or the executive mansion at Indianapolis.

Mrs. Marshall believes in a home first, and the "home air" prevails.

"If Governor Marshall ever occupied the White House people would not know that historic institution," declares an admirer. "Mrs. Marshall would have it a real home. People would feel comfortable even in the midst of the gold and glitter."

But it is not only as a wife and the mistress of a home that Mrs. Marshall shows her ability. She is a politician and a clever one. She also has a remarkable memory.

Governor Marshall has earned the reputation of being in a class of story tellers all by himself. He can remember stories, but he forgets names. A name is something to be cast aside with Governor Marshall, and this is one of the regrets of his life, if he has any regrets. The governor is not a worrying man. He is somewhat of a fatalist, but if he could he would like to remember names; but, not having that ability, he does not worry, for Mr. Marshall is the new rememberer of the family.

She has a peculiar ability along this line. Not only does she remember the last name, but any combination of names comes as second nature to her, and she carries this ability on down to the children and cousins of any one seeking the governor.

While the governor is shaking hands and trying to remember whether his caller is Jones or Smith, Mrs. Marshall is busy supplying the information and asking about all the relatives.

Ideal Partners.

Governor Marshall has no brothers or sisters, and his parents being dead leaves him somewhat barren of relatives.

Governor Marshall's friends are enthusiastic over his home life. When he has started on talking of his wife a new light in the Hoosier executive comes to the surface.

They come near being ideal married partners.

"I was talking to Tom one day," explained one of his most intimate friends, "We were leaning back, and Tom had been telling some of his good stories to illustrate various topics of our conversation. We were waiting for Mrs. Marshall to come back from a shopping tour, and I happened to remark that I liked Mrs. Marshall better every time I met her."

"Well, now that's the way she strikes me, Jim," he said "We have been married some sixteen years, and as time goes that is a long or short period, just as you think. To me it is but a fleeting day. Then I think back over my married life and find I have grown to know Mrs. Marshall better every day. A man must not only love but he must also respect his partner in this life—respect her in all things. She must have wonderful qualities to make the love and respect grow deeper and better each day. That's been my history."

"The fact that Mrs. Marshall has been in sympathy in my work, my play, my life, is good. But I have been greeted Governor Marshall in the big coliseum in the state fair grounds here today were the greatest in the history of the party.

The west wanted to show the east what could be done in notification honors, and, while Mrs. Marshall was happy, of course, over the honors for her husband, she was also worried, for her husband comes mighty close to being father, husband, son and partner all in one. And when a woman has that combination on her hands to care for she has every right to be worried.

Governor Marshall will never gain any honors as a hammer thrower. He is not built that way.

While all the country was reading the vigorous words of Governor Marshall which told the voters what he expects Democracy to do in carrying out the pledges for the next four years, it's worth while to know what part a woman is taking in the affairs of the campaign—how Tom Marshall happens to be in the position in which he stands today.

The good people of Columbia City, Ind., never thought Thomas Riley Marshall was a "marrying man." For forty years he had lived with his parents, nursing both his father and mother, who were invalids, which was the reason Governor Marshall was not a marrying man. He felt his first duty was to his parents.

Meeting Mrs. Marshall.

After the death of his parents Governor Marshall dived deeper into his law practice, and one day an urgent case took him to Angola, Ind. His duties called him to the county clerk's office, and there he met Miss Lois Kinsey, daughter of the county clerk, who was assisting her father in the office.

From that day Governor Marshall had more business around the county clerk's office in Angola than any lawyer in half a dozen nearby counties.

Governor Marshall was forty-two years of age when he was married. Mrs. Marshall being nearly twenty years his junior.

The Marshalls had been married only a few weeks when the future vice president was called to an adjoining county on a case that would consume some five or six weeks of his time.

"Now, I did not want to be starting off like that," Governor Marshall explained to a friend one day, so I just told Mrs. Marshall that I thought she should go along. And she did."

Since then Governor Marshall has never made a trip without Mrs. Marshall going along. They have traveled all over the country together; they go to banquets and political meetings together until the friends of the Indiana executive refer to him and his wife as the "pards."

"Tom Marshall is not overstrong," explained one of his friends. "While not a delicate man, his constitution is not of the most vigorous type."

"When he gets into a political battle he forgets his weakness. He gives all that is in him, and that will tell on any man. Mrs. Marshall soon discovered that the governor would become heated in making a speech and the next day his voice would be husky."

ROMANCE OF THEIR LIVES.

The Notification of the Indiana Executive For Democratic Vice Presidency Honors a Record Breaker.

By J. C. HAMMOND, Of Democratic National Publicity Bureau.

Indianapolis.—Just about the time that thousands of friends of Governor Thomas Riley Marshall were anxiously waiting to shake his hand in congratulation over his acceptance as candidate of vice president on the Democratic ticket, a smiling woman stopped before him, and if one could have heard what she whispered in his ear it would have been something like "Now, hurry in, Tom, and change your clothes."

And Tom Marshall forgot to shake hands with the enthusiastic friends until he had carried out the orders of Mrs. Tom.

Indiana has honored four of her sons as vice presidential candidates on the Democratic ticket, but the crowds that

For President
WOODROW WILSON
of New Jersey.

Vice President
THOMAS R. MARSHALL
of Indiana.

For Congress
of Lincoln County.

Mr. Roosevelt has the worst case of recallism of any man in America. His late announcement that he favors the recall of President puts him in the lead of the entire visionaries. It would seem that he ought to be content in pursuing a policy to the ruin of his party and in advocating a doctrine that would destroy the force and effectiveness of judicial decisions, but not content, and apparently pondering to anything that means to get votes, he now announces his willingness to allow the popular vote of the people to overthrow the highest officer of our country. The president is not elected by popular vote yet, for a trifling grievance or for political prejudice, the Bull Moose leader is willing to involve the safety of our government in such a dangerous tangle merely to advance his own political destiny. For the good he is indirectly doing for the Democratic nominees, we can cheerfully thank him, and for the destruction of the party that has honored him, above almost any other American, is a matter for him and those of Republican faith to adjust, but his recallism is extreme and dangerous.

The editor of the Elizabethtown News has recently been over the State, taking in the political situation. His forecasts can generally be relied on. The following is the way he sizes up the present outlook: The vote of Kentucky, in the Presidential election is merely a matter of majority, as no sane man questions the fact of Wilson and Marshall carrying the State. Under normal conditions there are 248,000 Democratic votes in the State and 228,000 Republican votes. There is a probability, owing the fact that the race is one sided, that the Democrats will not poll over 225,000, but the Republicans will poll much less a per cent of their vote. There is great disgust among the Republicans, and there will be the largest stay-at-home vote among them in many years. We think that the maximum vote polled by both the Taft and Roosevelt tickets will not exceed 200,000. It is more likely to be less than this. It is true that there will be a few Democrats who will vote the Bull Moose ticket, but for every Democratic vote lost in this way there will be a Republican who will vote for Wilson.

The question is how will the Republican vote be divided between Taft and Roosevelt. Recently we had opportunity to get a full and fair expression from every Congressional district in the State. In the Third, Ninth and Tenth Districts Taft will get more votes than Roosevelt. In the Second, Seventh and Eighth Districts there will be practically a stand-off between the two. In the other districts Roosevelt will lead Taft considerably, especially in the Eleventh. It looks now like Roosevelt will get 110,000 votes and Taft 90,000. If these figures are borne out, and there is no material change between now and election, Wilson will have a plurality over Roosevelt of 115,000 and over Taft of 135,000 and a majority over both of 25,000.

One of the most effective speeches that has been delivered by Gov. Wilson during the campaign was that at the farmers' picnic at Washington Park, New Jersey. It was especially prepared for the farmers, who the Governor showed never occupied the center of the stage in politics, and were little considered in legislation. The farmers have demanded no protection, but everything they buy is protected by a heavy tariff which in most cases goes into the pockets of the trusts instead of helping to pay the expenses of the Government. When tariff bills are considered it is the interests that ask to be heard. Whoever thought of the farmers asking to be heard? "It is time," said Governor Wilson "for you to break into your own house and live there. I want you to examine very critically the tenants who have been occupying it. It is a very big house and very few people have been living in it." This good advice to the farmers is applicable to all classes that have received little consideration at the hands of the Republicans. There seems to be a general desire for a house cleaning, and it will come in November, if every Democrat does his duty as we are sure they will do when they have such an excellent chance to get possession of the Government, which the Republicans have so long mismanaged.

The Wilson and Marshall campaign in Kentucky was formally opened at Lexington last Thursday. It is estimated that thirty thousand Democrats were in attendance, and intense enthusiasm reigned throughout the day. The meeting was addressed by Speaker Champ Clark, United States Senators Kerr, of Indiana, and Gore, Oklahoma, Gov. McCreary, Ollie M. James, United States Senator elect and others. It was predicted by some of the speakers that Kentucky would give the Democratic ticket one hundred thousand majority. In the next few weeks there will be speakings in all the county seats in the State.

Measured in every way and judged by every standard, Governor Wilson completely fills the bill of a man who should occupy the high office of President of the greatest nation on earth. Capable, scholarly, courageous, safe and patriotic, he will make an ideal President whose single aim will be to obey the constitution and do the greatest good for the greatest number. His majority should be so large that it will serve lasting notice to the interests that this is the government of the people, by the people, and not of the people by the trusts.

Information having reached Judge Carter, last week, that some of the grand jurymen were not doing their full duty, he had the body brought before him and gave instructions number 2 in a plain, pointed manner. We heartily endorse the Judge in his efforts, acting under the information before him.

The Republican National Committee in session in New York accepted resignations of its members from Minnesota, Ohio and Oklahoma; declared vacant the seats of members from West Virginia, New Jersey and North Carolina, and announced that a new organization will be arranged for California.

Gov. Wilson made several speeches in St Paul and Minneapolis, in which he reiterated his opposition to the plank in the Progressive platform which favors trust control by a commission.

Congressman Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of former President Roosevelt, stated last week that he would support the Republican ticket.

In the battle between the Turks and the Arabs and Italians in Tripoli, the Italians killed more than 800 of the enemy. More than 1,000 were wounded.

The Roosevelt Presidential electors in Kansas will go on the ballot in the independent column in November by a decision reached by Progressive leaders.

Effects of Alcohol.

A recent investigation showed that ten in every hundred of the children of drinking couples in London were consumptive, while only two in one hundred of the children of abstaining couples were similarly affected. A study of metal deficiency among school children showed that out of 20,000 cases, nearly one-third came from drinking parents. More than half of these proved dull in their School work; whereas, among the children of abstaining parents only one in ten proved similarly deficient.

A physician recently declared that his investigations had shown that of 600 children born of 120 drinking mothers, 335 died in infancy or were still born, several were idiots, and four in every hundred were epileptics. In examining into the history of 2552 idiots, epileptic, hysterical or weakminded children in a French institution, it was found that over 41 out of every 100 of the children had drinking parents. ## Attorney General Favors Reversing Commonwealth Case

COMPLIMENTS FROM BENCH

[From the State Journal]

The Commonwealth met reversal in four cases before the Court of Appeals yesterday and in one the Attorney General in his brief agreed with the appellant that he was entitled to a new trial. This was the case of Coleman Speaks, a seventeen-year old negro, who was sentenced in Daviess county for 2 to 21 years for voluntary manslaughter. In the presence of witnesses, Coleman drew a revolver and asked Mose Davis, another negro, if he "thought it would burn." When the latter said it wouldn't Coleman pointed it at Davis and fired, killing the other negro. Coleman insisted they were friends and he didn't know it was loaded. In referring to the charge to the jury in his brief the Attorney General said one clause "was in effect a peremptory instruction to find the defendant guilty of voluntary manslaughter, and by this the jury was denied the right to pass upon the degree of the offense, which was entirely within its province, and the defendant was denied the right to have the jury pass upon the degree, which is a right accorded him by law.

"It is not the duty of this department," continued the Attorney General, "to persecute, but, on the other hand, to see that every citizen of the Commonwealth has fair-hearing upon trial. Especially should this be true in this case, where we are dealing with a poor, ignorant negro boy, 17 years of age, and without the assistance of friends."

In delivering the opinion of the court reversing the Daviess Circuit Court, Judge Winn said: "The position of the Attorney General is brave and fair and commendable in its motive and effect."

Jamestown Jots.

The work on the new Odd-Fellows hall is rapidly going forward, and be completed at a date not far distant. It is estimated that the building will cost several thousand dollars, and will be a large, impressive structure when completed. The building is situated fronting the public square, and parallels Water Street.

The boys of the town are organizing a basketball team, and will be prepared to meet all comers within a very short time. There are several good players in the town, and they expect to have a five that will be a credit to Jamestown.

J. L. Story, one of the teachers of the Jamestown School, and Herbert Popplewell, of this place, made a visit to Indian Creek, the home of Mr. Story, on Friday evening.

Mrs. W. S. Knight and Miss Dezza Phelps, both of Jamestown, attended the Monticello Fair.

T. P. Warren returned Sunday from a trip to Burkesville, where he stayed several days.

Vernon Holt left for Liberty Sunday morning, with his two running horses, to attend the Casey County Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Meadows and Mrs. Lee McKinley made a trip to Russell Springs Friday evening.

Miss Eva Rae Oaks and Olga Lawless, of Owensby, were in town on Thursday night, visiting Miss Alene Morrison.

Lecture on Cigarettes.

Just why a bright young man with plenty of sense will hang to the cigarette habit when he knows better, is more than we can tell. It is a sad sight to watch the crowd in front of the church at the close of a Sunday night's meeting, when fifteen or twenty of the nicest young men of the neighborhood, proceed to light up their cigarettes. It is a filthy, unhealthy habit that is wasteful of time and money and helps to ruin the future of the young man who practices it. Young man, brace up and quit the habit.

A Red Headed Ghost.

Mr. Fred Lolahr, who is caretaker at Ryder cemetery, has always laughed at the talk of ghosts and "haunts," but h's nerve was tried a few nights ago and he was about ready to throw up his job when the cause of the trouble was discovered. The sleep of the family was interrupted by a steady rapping that had a strange metallic sound. A diligent search failed to locate the noise and all returned to bed. The rapping was again heard, and heard again and again during the night. After day light, the rapping was found to come from the stove pipe, which was taken down, and out flew a woodpecker.—Lebanon Falcon.

How to be Certain of Curing Constipation

Prejudice is a hard thing to overcome, but where health is at stake and the opinion of thousands of reliable people differs from yours, prejudice then becomes your menace and you ought to lay it aside. This is said in the interest of people suffering from chronic constipation, and it is worthy of their attention.

In the opinion of legions of reliable American people the most stubborn constipation imaginable can be cured by a brief use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You may not have heard of it before, but do not doubt its merits on that account, or because it has not been blatantly advertised. It has sold very successfully on word of mouth recommendation. Parents are giving it to their children today who were given it by their parents, and it has been truthfully said that more druggists use it personally in their families than any other laxative.

Letters recently received from M. E. Myers, Morrison, Tenn., and Ada Hamersmith, 118 W. Chestnut St., Louisville, Ky., are but a few of thousands showing the esteem in which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is held. It is mild, gentle, non-gripping—not violent, like salts or cathartics. It cures gradually and pleasantly so that in time nature again does its own work without outside aid. Constipated people owe it to themselves to use this grand bowel specific.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. R. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

Way tucky Will Need More Cash.

A special from Frankfort says. "The State of Kentucky is face to face with a crisis in its financial affairs, and a special session of the legislature to deal with the situation is probable. The State now has a deficit of $1,000,000 and will have to pay Confederate pensions of about $400,000 a year, beginning Nov. 1. An increase in the franchise assessments of corporations and railroads from $40,000,000 to $177,000,000 is proposed as a means of bringing in the needed revenue, and the State Board of Assessment is expected to order an increase in a few days. The corporations affected, however, threaten to fight the increase in the courts, and in this event a special session of the legislature to devise new means of taxation may be necessary."

Overwhelming.

Woodrow Wilson is a brilliant and convincing political speaker, but never did a candidate for President have less need to reply upon the arts of oratory.

No speeches made by Governor Wilson in his own behalf could possibly be so strong as the speeches that Col. Roosevelt is making for him. No argument advanced by Governor Wilson in favor of his own election could be so strong as the record of the Taft administration in his behalf.

Here is a candidate for President who has nothing to fear and nothing to explain. No Congressional investigation can cause him a moment of anxiety. He is not called upon to appear before any committee that may be inquiring into the use of corporation money in politics.

So far as he is concerned all the trusts in the country can open their books and make public their contributions to campaign funds. No Standard Oil revelations no Harriman revelations, no Beef Trust revelations, no Penrose threats and no Hearst threats disturb the even tenor of his way. No Cortelyous and no Loeb are required to substantiate his statements. No bosses stole his nomination for him and no Wall street plutocrats are financing his candidacy. He owes favors neither to the Murray Cranes and the Barneses and the Brother Charlies nor to the Perkinses and the Grays. Nobody suspects him of any alliance with crooked political machines or with crooked corporations. No partnerships with Privileges are loitering by his door. His is the one untainted candidacy—the one candidacy that measures to the truest political ideals of the Republic.

There are two overwhelming reasons in support of Woodrow Wilson's election to the office of President of the United States. One of these reasons is Theodore Roosevelt. The other is William Howard Taft.—The New York World.

Obituary.

Mrs. Nannie E. Chapman the beloved wife of Mr. J. A. Chapman, of Glenville, died of heart failure on Saturday Sept. 14th. She was born Jan. 21, 1853, died Sept. 14th, 1912, making her 57 years old last January. She leaves a husband, two daughters, two sisters and two brothers besides many friends and relatives to mourn their loss. She was of such a cheerful nature always loving and kind to every one, made her home such a pleasant place for her husband and children. And was always ready and willing to help any one in trouble. Yes we will miss dear aunt Nannie she was so good to every one. One of her daughters, Mrs. Nona Thomas, was in Brookhaven, Miss., when her mother died and arrived here just in time to see her buried at the sad hour of midnight. Her husband was also several miles from home, and came home to find his dear wife whom he had left cheerful and well, now cold and gone from her friends here on earth to her dear little boy and other friends who have been called to that beautiful home above.

Her friends have the sympathy of every one and we know the Lord will comfort them in their time of trouble, but there seems to be no relief to such a deep sorrow. But we know that none can stay here many years and may the Lord help us all to meet her in that beautiful home where there will be no sad parting but will live all together forever more.

The Old Way.

One of our exchanges truthfully says that when pa was young, poeple who had bad colds, soaked their feet in hot water and took a few draughts of catnip and got well. Now they have lagrippe, take quinine and feel sick all summer. Then they had sore throat, wrapped a piece of bacon in an old wool stocking, tied it around the neck at night and went to work the next day. Now they have tonsillitis, a surgical operation, and two weeks in hospital. Then they had stomach trouble and took castor oil and recovered. Now they have appendicitis, a week in the hospital and six feet due east and west and six feet perpendicular. In those days they wore underclothes. Now they wear lingerie. Then they went to a restaurant; now they go to a cafe. Then they broke a leg; now they fracture a limb. People went crazy: now they have brain storms—or are born crazy, we don't know which. Politicians then paid good, hard cash for support; now they send government garden seed instead. Yes, times have changed and we all change with the time. That's progress.

Orator's Tribute to Women,

It takes 100 men to make an encampment, but one woman can make a home. I not only admire woman as the most beautiful object ever created, but I reverence her as the redeeming glory of humanity, the sanctuary of all virtues, the pledge of all perfect qualities of heart and head. It is not just nor right to lay the sins of men at the feet of women. It is because women are so much better than men that their faults are considered greater. The one thing in this world that is constant, the one peak that rises above all clouds, the one window in which the light forever burns, the one star that darkness cannot quench is woman's love. It rises to the greatest heights, it sinks to the lowest depths. It forgives the most injuries. It is perennial of life and grows in every climate. Neither coldness nor neglect, harshness nor cruelty can extinguish it. A woman's love is the perfume of the heart. This is the real love that subdues the earth; the love that has wrought all miracles of art; that gives us music all the way from the cradle song to the grand closing symphony that bears the soul away on wings of fire. A love that is greater than power, sweeter than life and stronger than death.—Robert G. Ingersoll.

Terse Telegrams.

Dispatches to the navy department confirm the belief that the Nicaraguan revolution is practically over.

The commander of the mutinous troops at Tungohow, China, has shot forty of the ringleaders of the outbreak.

There has been further fighting on the Turco-Greek frontier, and it is reported that seven Turks were killed and thirteen wounded.

Lieutenants Hotchkiss and Beddington of the royal flying corps of the British army were killed by a 500-foot fall with their aeroplane.

The kaiser is keenly following the military maneuvers in Saxony, seemingly well and vigorous and as if his recent illness had not occurred.

A strong plea in favor of phonetic spelling was made at the meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science at Dundee.

The Archduchess Ella of Austria, whose betrothal to a cavalry officer was announced some time ago, has formally renounced her royal rights.

Every military company in Virginia is to be recruited up to its full quota of men and placed on a war footing on orders from the war department.

The Italian royal family has redeemed the jewels of the former queen mother, Maria Pia of Portugal, which were pledged to a Lisbon banker for $60,000.

The twenty-third eucharistic congress in session in Vienna. Delegates and visitors numbering upward of 150,000 from all over the world have gathered in the city.

London society is stirred by the death by suicide of Miss Ghila Stanhope, aged thirty-one, daughter of the commander, the Hon. Henry A. S. Stanhope, uncle of Lord Stanhope.

Twenty persons were killed and thirty injured when a bomb was exploded in the market at Doiran, Macedonia. It is suspected that the outrage was the work of anti-Turkish plotters.

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup, and is my best seller." For sale by Paul Drug Co.

The Fish And Game Law

First—Commission of four are appointed to enforce the game laws. They to appoint a chief game warden at a salary of about $5,500 per year, and as many additional wardens as necessary. They to appoint all money from licenses, fines and sales of contraband goods.

Second—Any game warden can arrest a person caught in the act of violating the law without a warrant, seize his gun, net or other devices, and convey such person of persons before a magistrate. Possession of animals or birds within prohibited time is evidences of guilt. Articles thus seized are turned over to Commission and sold or disposed of by them.

Third—County attorneys, commonwealth's attorneys, sheriff and constable are required by law to see that the fish and game laws are enforced.

Fourth—Hunting licenses are issued by the county clerks between the dates of March 30 and December, 15. The cost is $1 per year for a person who has been a bonafide resident of the State for a year and $12 for non residents.

Fifth—Persons may hunt on their own land and the adjoining neighbor's land without licenses.

Sixth—The fine for hunting without license or loaning your license to another is not less than $25 or more than $100, or jail sentence.

Seventh—You are not allowed to shoot, hunt, or fish on enclosed grounds without consent of owner. Violators are subject to fine of $12 to $26 for trespassing.

Many Driven From Home.

Every year, in many parts of the country, thousands are driven from their homes by coughs and lung diseases. Friends and business are left behind for other climates, but this is costly and not always sure. A better way—the way of multitudes—is to use Dr. King's New Discovery and cure yourself at home. Stay right there with your friends, and take this safe medicine. Throat and lung troubles find quick relief and health returns. Its help in coughs, colds, grip, croup, whooping-cough and sore lungs make it a positive blessing, 50c and $1 trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Paul Drug Co.

The Disgrace of New York.

No greater scandal has ever been than that which has lately linked the New York police with the protection of criminals and the murder of a gambler who had threatened to expose the relationship. The courts yet have to make clear how much of the amazing story must be believed. Persons who are well-informed not only believe the whole of it, but declare that half the truth has not yet been told.

In some respects the conditions that are said to exist are worse than those that prevailed under the Tweed ring, for the alleged crimes are of a far more heinous character. Under Tweed, trusted officers of the city plundered the treasury of enormous sums. In this case a high officer of the police force is charged with hiring assassins to commit a brutal murder under a promise of protection and immunity. The object was to prevent the gambler who was killed from exposing the relations sustained toward organized vice by a number of police officials and men high in the city government.

It is openly asserted that for years the gambling houses and other places of evil resort in New York have been protected, and compelled to pay tribute for the protection. The official blackmail is declared to have amounted to millions of dollars a year.

It may be possible to convict and punish those who have been guilty of the particular crimes now revealed, but all who are conversant with the present conditions agree that it is impossible to stop such practices, because those who should be most active in suppressing them are not willing to make any serious effort to do so.

That is not the same thing as saying that the majority of the people of New York favor these practices, but it is only another way of saying that they are not sufficiently aroused to the shame of them. They could have a pure government if they set their minds to it, but, like the people of a good many other cities, they allow themselves to be led by politicians who obtain their power and their opportunity to plunder by tolerating vice.

It is an old saying that the government of any community great or small, is as good as it deserves, because it is as good as it desires. For the shortcomings of officials the majority of the citizenship are in the analysis responsible.

Gradyville.

The weather has been very pleasant for the past few days. L. C. Neat of Columbia was here the first of the week.

Quite a number from this place attended court at Columbia last Monday.

Our farmers are all about through cutting tobacco and are preparing to sow a large crop of wheat.

Several cases of diphtheria in this section at this time, but we are glad to note none very serious.

Remember the services at Union on Saturday before the 5 Sunday at 3 o'clock p. m. and on Sunday following. All the officials of the church are requested to be present at the Saturday services.

Several mule colts have changed hands in this community in the past week at prices ranging from $45 to $90.

J. F. Pendleton made trip to Red Lick the first of the week and received a nice bunch of cattle at prices from 4 to 4½ cents per pound. Mr. Pendleton informed us that he had over 150 head of cattle on hands at this time.

Mrs. L. M. Wilmore of Bogard, Mo., is visiting her relatives and friends in this community at this time. We were all glad to meet Mrs. Wilmore again and to hear from all of her people.

Mr. W. W. Yates came in from Edmonton last week to spend a few days with us. Uncle Weeden is looking well and we are glad to know that he can get around as well as he does. We all enjoy having him with us.

We had the pleasure of visiting the well-known farm of Mr. J. H. Smith, of this community a few days ago, and seeing his large fields of well ripened tobacco just ready for the knives. Mr. Smith had made on his farm this season something over thirty acres of tobacco. We are glad to say that this entire crop this season is largely over an average for this section. His brother Lee, presented your reported with one stalk of the weed, that is only a fair sample of his crops, that was made on his farm. We will take the liberty to say right here, that any one might examine every crop made in this county and you would not find a crop of tobacco that would surpass Lee Smith's in length, color or any other way. The sample is at Wilmore & Moss, store for any one to inspect.

Gov. J. R. Hindman of Columbia in company with our old friend, Mr. George Hindman of Holden, Mo., paid us a visit one day last week. Our people one and all were glad to meet with our old Missouri friend, and to hear from all of our old friends in Missouri. Mr. Hindman looks as well as he did when he made us a visit seven or eight years ago, the only difference we can see in him is that he has a little touch of rheumatism, that makes a little trouble in his walking, but upon the whole it is the same

George Hindman that every body knows if they ever met him.

Mr. Matthew Wooten and wife of Sparksville, passed through here last Saturday en route for Greensburg, where they will spend a few days visiting their relatives. As Mr. Wooten has been in bad health for the past year or so he expects to go under treatment of the physicians at that place.

Craycraft.

The farmers of this community, received the rains of last week with great joy. If the dry weather had prevailed much longer the wheat crops would have been cut short.

Mr. Walker Cravens has been dangerously ill for the past few weeks, but is reported better at this writing.

CAUSE AND REMEDY.

Uncertainty of the immediate future is looked upon by many men of affairs, as a blockade to enterprise and business prosperity, and this blockade is now quite apparent throughout the channels of trade.

The Presidential Election; the efforts of Congress with no fixed purpose; Organized Labor as a new factor in politics; together with other matters of greater or less import, represent at this time a chaotic conflict of separate interests, to harmonize which is now the problem before the country.

All want Prosperity, Peace and Plenty. Read with care the Cincinnati Enquirer, a journal that prints all the news each day from every commercial center throughout the world. A barometer of causes and effects that points out, as a Beacon Light, the danger and the safeguard therefrom.

As well known, the Daily Enquirer is the largest in size and highest priced paper in the United States, yet cheapest, measured by quality and quantity.

The Weekly Enquirer, with the cream and digest of all the news, able and conservative editorials, market reports, methods and results from Government and State Experiment Stations, veterinary matters, People's Forum, choice literature, short and continued stories, non-sectarian sermons, general information, etc., with the exclusion of all matters of scandal and immorality, is today the Cleanest Weekly Family Journal obtainable. Each issue is alone worth the price of a year's subscription.

Solicitors for subscriptions make a handsome profit and increase the good influence of The Enquirer in the uplift of morality and industry, and for the betterment and welfare of the community. For terms write to The Enquirer, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Many Driven from Home.

Every year, in many parts of the country, thousands are driven from their homes by coughs and lung diseases. Friends and business are left behind for other climates, but this is costly and not always sure. A better way—the way of multitudes—is to use Dr. King's New Discovery and cure yourself at home. Stay right there with your friends, and take this safe medicine. Throat and lung troubles find quick relief and health returns. Its help in coughs, colds, grip, croup, whooping-cough and sore lungs make it a positive blessing, 50c and $1 Tri- al bottle free. Guaranteed by Paull Drug Co.
